

B-05

Manufacturing

The people of Yamba cultivated and processed various crops and used a wide variety of tools associated with them. Some of these tools were made by professional craftsmen, but there were also many tools made by the villagers themselves. Since many tools used in building have been found, it is probable that there were farmers and craftsmen who had knowledge and skills in architecture.