Building No.27

At the Kawarayu Village Ishikawara site, many building materials of building No. 27 (main building) collapsed due to the Tenmei mudflow were found. It has been excavated in good condition so that the sill, lintel, two wooden sliding doors, and shoji screens overlap. Since the stairs were also found, it is probable that the attic was used as the second floor. The building also found the victims of a woman and two children who were killed by the mudflow. The magnitude of the mudflow can be seen by the heavily destroyed buildings, tools, and the remains of the victims.
