

F-03

Live with Nature

We have been hit by natural disasters such as volcanic eruptions, earthquakes, and floods many times, but we have survived these disasters, passed on the memories of the disasters to the future generations, and lived with nature. It is our role to live in the present and to learn about past disasters, prepare for future disasters, appreciate the blessings of nature, and build the future together with nature.